

TOOK HER OWN LIFE

Mrs. Charles Hoffman of Port Huron Found Dead.

THROAT CUT FROM EAR TO EAR

She Laid a Sick Bed and Retired to an Out-House to Commit the Deed.

General State News.

Port Huron, Sept. 11.—Saturday evening Mrs. Charles Hoffman committed suicide in an out-house near her residence on Water street, opposite Tenth street, in this city. She was subject to fits and had not been feeling well and was lying on the bed while some neighbors were looking after the house. Suddenly Mrs. Hoffman left the house and one of the neighbors soon followed her to see what she was doing. She found Mrs. Hoffman lying in a pool of blood with her throat cut from ear to ear. The windpipe and regular veins were severed and the woman died in a few minutes. Mrs. Hoffman's illness had caused her to be as unbecomingly emaciated. She was around as usual, prepared dinner for her husband, and was apparently feeling all right, but shortly after dinner she remarked to a neighbor that she was going to commit suicide, and was going to commit the deed, but nothing was thought of the matter at the time. She was found lying behind the door of the closet with her throat cut and a bloody razor in her grasp. Mrs. Smith and Lohrstorfer were immediately summoned, but could do nothing to save her life, and she expired in twenty minutes. When the doctors attempted to dress her throat she made an effort to keep them away by striking at them.

Her husband has been drinking considerably for the past two months, and about a week on this account, and continued illness, she had probably tired of living and decided to end her life with the weapon that came most handy. Mrs. Hoffman was about 32 years of age, was married something over a year ago, and leaves an infant three months old.

MICHIGAN CROP REPORT.

The Regular Monthly Bulletin issued from Lansing.

LANSING, Sept. 10.—The Michigan crop report for September issued by the secretary of state today gives the following statistics. It is compiled from the reports of 67 correspondents. One hundred and fifty-nine correspondents in the southern four tiers of counties have reported from threshers statements of wheat threshed up to August 31, as follows: 343,154 bushels, 25,000 acres; 65,617 bushels, 972,995 acres; 14,53 bushels.

The number of jobs reported threshed in the central counties is 655; acres, 7,929; bushels, 108,809; average per acre, 13.67 bushels.

The number of jobs reported from the northern counties is 294; acres, 1,488; bushels, 20,229; average per acre, 13.63 bushels.

These figures indicate a total yield in the state of about 29,500,000 bushels. In a great many instances wheat is reported badly shrunken, and is thought to be of poor quality in all parts of the state.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in August is 1,359,337. Of this amount 328,784 bushels were marketed in the first or southern tier of counties; 298,084 bushels in the second tier; 200,000 bushels in the third tier; 143,154 bushels in the fourth tier; 122,067 bushels in the fifth and sixth tiers; and 15,236 bushels in the northern counties. At nineteen elevators and mills from which reports have been received there was no wheat marketed during the month.

The quantity of wheat marketed in August is 573,815 bushels less than marketed in the same month last year.

Oats will be above an average crop; about the same yield per acre as last year being reported in the southern section and a greater yield in the central and northern counties.

Potatoes are estimated to yield 55 per cent. of an average crop in the southern counties; 70 in the central and 88 in the northern counties. These figures show a better condition than in the same month last year in all sections of the state.

The yield of winter apples will be about 13 per cent. of an average crop in the southern counties; 38 in the central, and 93 in the northern counties. The figures for the same month last year were: Southern 20, central 35, and northern counties 27 per cent.

The hundred and twenty-nine correspondents report on peaches in the southern counties; the probable yield will be 32 per cent. of an average crop, and twenty-three reports from the central counties donate a yield of about 82 per cent. figures for the state being 61 per cent.

Accidents at Benton Harbor.

BENTON HARBOR, Sept. 11.—George Fielding of St. Joseph had his hand sawed off by a buzz saw yesterday, and F. Hedden and Lafayette Singleton were both buried in a ten-foot trench by the caving in of the earth. Mr. Singleton was given up for dead, as he was too far under the surface to get air for fully five minutes. Mr. Hedden's right leg was broken and it was half an hour before he was rescued.

Confidence Game at Marshall.

MARSHALL, Sept. 11.—A bogus check operator has been working the town. His method was to send forged checks by small boys to stores to be cashed by the merchants. One check purported to be executed by W. H. Alexander, the lumber merchant, in favor of C. H. Smith, marshal of the city. This check was taken to John Butler's shoe store to be cashed, accompanied by a note bearing Mr. Smith's name, requesting Butler to cash the check if convenient. Butler's suspicions were aroused and he called the officers, but the confidence man had fled. This morning it was discovered that two and probably more merchants had been victimized.

Saturday's Storm in Jackson.

JACKSON, Sept. 11.—Saturday afternoon Jackson was visited by a severe thunderstorm which made things lively in some parts of the city. The residence of Haila F. Kuopp on North Blackstone street was struck by lightning and the roof of the building was badly damaged. Mrs. Norris Branch, who was sitting on her porch conversing with a number of ladies, received a shock which knocked her down and rendered her insensible. She was seriously injured. An electric street car was struck, burning out the fuse and rendering it useless. A lady on Blackstone street, name unknown, was also knocked down.

Lansing Wants a New Charter.

LANSING, Sept. 11.—One of the things which will be taken up by the city council to do will be to give Lansing a new city charter. The present one has been in use for some time. It is old-fashioned and considerably out of repair and its insufficiency has been apparent for some time. Besides a desire to get out of the present charter and the present city administration for the creation of a non-partisan police board and a board of public works and other necessary changes it is desired to extend the city limits on the east to the Agricultural college.

Drowned in a Brook.

BATTLE CREEK, Sept. 11.—The body of a man was found lying face downward in a shallow creek four miles east of here near the Michigan Central railroad tracks. The remains were identified as those of Eugene Townsend, a farm laborer who worked near by. His death is a mystery, but it is supposed that he fell while jumping from a freight train and rolled into the creek. The coroner will investigate.

They Had a Narrow Escape.

TRAVERSE CITY, Sept. 11.—During the heavy storm Saturday morning the barn of John Phipps of Acme was struck by lightning and destroyed, with thirty tons of hay. About the same time a well house and windmill of Albert Kent of Island were also struck and shattered to pieces. Mrs. Kent and her baby were within four feet of the house, but escaped.

Verdict for $7,000.

MANSFIELD, Sept. 11.—In the case of Henry Dyer, the Minneapolis, St. Paul & North Star, Marie railway, which has been on trial in the circuit court here for the past four days, the jury brought in a verdict at 8 o'clock this evening for the plaintiff in the sum of $7,000. Counsel for the defendant were allowed sixty days in which to file a bill of exception.

Saturday's Storm in Branch County.

COLDWATER, Sept. 11.—The most terrific storm in years visited Coldwater and vicinity Saturday at 1 o'clock. Lightning struck in several places. The residence of A. Bruhl on West Chicago street and Harry Bassett's on Battle Creek street were both struck with but little damage done. Much damage was done to the electric light wires throughout the city.

Old Resident of Belleville Dead.

BELEVILLE, Sept. 11.—Charles Dames, a well-to-do farmer living about three miles southeast of this place on the Martinville road, died this morning about 11 o'clock, of paralysis of the bowels. Mr. Dames was an old resident, having lived in this county since 1840. He died at his residence on the farm where he died for over thirty years.

REMEMBER THE ELEVENTH.

Every citizen should read the reports of the policy of "protection" has nothing to do with the rate of wages, but that the law of "supply and demand" governs the prices of labor as it does all commodities. The most absurd thing in regard to this is that no citizen may lawfully deny the fact. On the other hand, this theory works hand in hand with the policy of the republican party, so far at least as the demand for labor is concerned. One will notice that when the free trade theorists make this statement that he drops at once and is not heard from again.

Edmund D. Moud, the eminent publisher and lecturer, discusses the recent Homestead disturbances with fearless vigor and candor in the September New England Magazine. He deals with the Homestead and the case, the pulp and the politician, and comes to the conclusion that it will be a bad day for the American republic if the masses of working men ever come to believe that the state stands behind our millionaire bankers, ready to crush those whom they would crush into obedience. It is a sad state of affairs that all real thinkers, especially wage earners, will read with interest.

during the summer months, looking for employment. He got into the country to-day and asked the farmer if there has been a crowd of hungry men pounding at his gate asking for work. He will tell you that at no time for years has labor been so hard to secure, and that it has been in some cases almost impossible to secure enough help to harvest and store his crops. American workmen, remember the eleven men, and when he appears as your competitor remove him. If you do not find him a job he will find yours.

CAPTAIN MINCH'S FUNERAL.

The Victims of the Wreck of the Western Reserve Buried.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 11.—The funeral services over the remains of Capt. P. G. Minch and memorial services for Mrs. Anna C. Minch, his wife, Charles H. Minch, his 9-year-old son, and Florence E. Minch, his 6-year-old daughter, all of whom died in the wreck of the Western Reserve on Lake Superior, were held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the family residence, No. 86 Kinsman street. Every prominent vessel man expects to attend. The pallbearers selected were Capt. William Young of the steamer Philip Minch, Capt. George P. McKay, Capt. John H. Palmer, Capt. J. T. Hutchinson, Capt. H. A. Hawgood, Capt. H. J. Webb and H. D. Coffinberry, and Robert Wallace of the Cleveland Shipbuilding company. All the vessels in and out of port carried their flags at half mast. The cortege was one of the most imposing ever seen in this city.

Funeral of L. A. Ward.

The funeral of the late L. A. Ward was held from the residence, No. 176 South Union street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted under the auspices of the Grand River lodge, No. 24, F. & A. M., of which Mr. Ward was an honored member. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Fluhrer, and a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Davis, Mrs. Barnhart and L. P. Elder, sang appropriate music. The funeral was attended by a large number of brother Masons and attorneys who had assembled to pay a last tribute to their common friend. The remains were taken to Vergennes township, where Mr. Ward formerly resided, and were buried there near the place he was born.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

While the publishers of some magazines and periodicals in this country and Europe make offers and present to their readers gifts and prizes which may, or may not, be works of art, the Goddard Publishing company of No. 21 Park Row, New York, announce that they will present to each purchaser of Goddard's magazine, published in its new form September 15 (for October), with an art subject which is worthy of the name, and which is so beautiful in conception, drawing and coloring that the picture will be in great demand by all art lovers. The subject is known as "Godey's Idea of the 'World's Fair,'" and the artist, W. Granville Smith, is widely known as one of America's most promising and talented colorists. The publishers wish it understood that, in addition to the magnificent October number, retailing for 25 cents, this beautiful picture (size 7x9 inches) will be given free as a supplement.

The world of fashion has been astir of late in consequence of the revival of what is called the Directoire styles, for which much popularity is predicted this autumn. The Directoire being that period of French history which preceded the coronation of Napoleon I, and of his wife Josephine, leads naturally to the Empire and Josephine styles, concerning which there is also a great deal of interest manifested. Another favorite variation will be the Rococo costume, taking its appellation from the famous lady of that name, who is doubly celebrated for her beauty and her friendship with Mme. de Staël. The old-time balloon sleeve, another reminiscence of that epoch, will be much in vogue this fall. Many people use the expression, Directoire, Empire, Rococo without fully realizing what these terms signify, and are consequently apt to err in their endeavor to adopt the latest novelties. The most practical way of obtaining this information is to subscribe for La Mode de Paris and Paris Album of Fashion, at $3.50 per year each. They are the most artistic fashion magazines published. You can get them if you write to the publishers, Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York.

A very timely book is "The Career of Columbus," by Charles Elton, M. P., which, however, while it is "timely," is not ephemeral. It is a book prepared with great care and the author has brought scholarly research to bear upon its making. It is a book that will be read for its intrinsic worth as well as for its relation to the great anniversary of 1892. The author writes in a popular style, and his book is likely to interest young as well as older readers.

Mrs. Alexander's new novel, "The Snare of the Fowler," is announced by the Cassell Publishing company. Mrs. Alexander is a name to conjure with. The simple announcement of a novel from her pen is sufficient. "The Snare of the Fowler" has been ranked by those who have read the advance sheets with her masterpiece, "The Nooning Out." It is a capital story and has all the charm of this writer's manner.

Madame Alexandre Dumas is about 67 years of age, being a few years the senior of her illustrious husband, writes Lucy Hamilton Hooper in an interesting sketch of the wife of the famous dramatist in the September Ladies Home Journal. Few of the great men of France have married so brilliantly and happily as well, as did the younger Dumas. Beautiful, fascinating, gifted, possessing a large fortune, absolutely devoted to her husband and her children, the congenial companion of the great dramatist's life, the subject of our present sketch stands out on the pages of the literary and social history of France as one of the most noteworthy of the wives of that nation's celebrated men.
